the City Officers, &c. Philadelphia stands but a poor chance of being represented at the World's Fair, as the cases deposited at our Navy Yard, intended to go out in the St. Lawrence, still remain there; and as no arrargements have been made for their transporta-

by that vessel. The Mayer's and Marshal's policemen are at the outs-the latter accusing the former of having choused them out of the opportunity of recovering the stolen property found in the room of Margaret Hildebrand—a sort of female Jack Shepherd, who has been highly successful in her plunderings for the last ment or so. A suit will probably result—two of the Marshal's men, who had first a warrant to search the premises, being the complainants against two of the Mayor's police, who secured the prize and all the credit. At least twenty persons identified various articles this morning at the Mayor's office.

A frightful accident occurred in Cheanut street this morning, in consequence of a runaway horse coming in collision with the vehicle of Dr. Anderson. That gentleman was thrown out and seriously hurt, his horse also, running off, and coming in contact with the shaft of a cart, ran it into his body, causing his death. The other runaway herse broke his leg and had to be killed. choused them out of the opportunity of recovering

Georgia, and no encouragement from Mississippi, South Carolina may, probably, determine to show her spunk, by meeting the issue aloae, of waiking herself out of the Union.

We say there is some danger; and the heavy broadsides of the Intelligencer, directed upon South Carolina, very significantly indicate the point of danger. Let us hope, however, that a wise discretion will prevail.

Mr. Hunter, on Tuesday, will report his bill to amend the warehousing law—it will conform, on that subject, to the recommendations of the lato report to Congress, of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Our late cold snap of weather is about to be followed up by a storm of rain or snow, as it begins about half-and-half, and no telling ancity which will bear off the palm—probably the rain.

tion, they will probably miss the chance of going ing till now; there is considerable sickness here at present, owing to the great amount of rain at this season. It is not, however, of a malignant form, and yields readily to judicious medical treatment. The tide of California emigrants continues steadily to flow through here, and the average number is from three to four hundred, who await for conveyance, sometimes several weeks, and suffer from bad accommodations and shortness of provisions. There are not enough houses to lodge comfortably half the number at present waiting here. The steamer of the 15th inst. was behind her time, and consequently the man-of-war steamer Inflexible took some 600 passengers to Chagres at
